

Twin-Star's new kitchen island has a built-in stemmed glassware rack (left), while a wine cabinet has both a full view display and bottom storage (below).

Twin-Star Adds Kitchen Islands, Wine Cabinet

LAS VEGAS— Although it continues to add core products including a wine cabinet and a media mantel, Twin-Star will place particular emphasis on kitchen islands at the Summer Las Vegas Market, here.

The model 30CC20160-X332 wine cabinet will stand as a featured item in the company's Las Vegas World Market showroom. The wine cabinet has a traditional cherry finish and incorporates one drawer, the company stated. A glass hutch allows access to wine bottles via the side panels leaving the front clear for full-view display of up to 16 bottles of wine. A lower wine rack offers additional storage for 14 bottles.

Las Vegas will provide Twin-Star with the opportunity to display a thoroughly revamped kitchen island program, the company pointed out, which now includes the model 42KC9753, offering solid wood, furniture grade construction with a real gray granite countertop, engineered white finish, a pair of operating drawers, and open central shelving that is both adjustable and removable for consumers who want to create additional space. The product mounts brushed nickel hardware, an integrated towel bar and four 3-inch casters with two locking.

Four additional Twin-Star kitchen islands also boast solid wood, furniture grade construction, as the company described the group.

The model 42KC9754 has a real black granite countertop, engineered summer cherry finish, two operable drawers and bypass doors that slide open to reveal a large storage cabinet. It also has a built-in side towel bar, brushed nickel hardware and four 3-inch casters with two locking. Similar in countertop and hardware, the model KI5621-48 kitchen island features an engineered weathered oak finish, two double deep drawers engineered for storage of pots and other large appliances, one pullout utensil drawer, an integrated pull out trash can and open shelving that can house cook books or other small items, as well as hooks for use as a pot rack or extra utensil storage.

Sharing the black granite countertop and integrated dining space, two other models differ in finish and other features. Model KI10289-48 offers an engineered antique pine finish and antique black hardware in addition to a built-in stemmed glassware rack, two side storage cabinets with window pane doors containing tempered, rippled frosted glass. It also contains open storage space and two adjustable center shelves that can act as bottle storage or, with a flip of the surface, as a flat shelf. Model KI10275-48 offers an engineered white finish, central open shelving for storage, brushed nickel hardware and a bread board that affords the kitchen island a touch of cottage styling. HWB